

2010 Editorial Calendar

newsdesk@s-ox.com

| | |
|------------|---|
| January: | Global Financial Standards |
| February: | Leveraging SOA for Better Compliance |
| March: | Internal Control Meltdown |
| April: | The Future of Ethics |
| May: | Securing Your IT Infrastructure |
| June: | Identity Management Strategies |
| July: | The New Risk in Risk Management |
| August: | Email Retention Strategies |
| September: | The Most Effective Sarbanes-Oxley Solutions |
| October: | Implementing XBRL |
| November: | The eDiscovery Revolution |
| December: | Internal Controls |

Call for Authors

The Sarbanes Oxley Compliance Journal is seeking authors with knowledge of how to comply with the Sarbanes Oxley Act.

Articles focusing on the following interest us:

1. How to comply with Sarbanes Oxley.
2. Survey articles describing specific trends.
3. Process orientated articles to achieve compliance.
4. Act specific requirements that impact any of the professions.
5. Case studies
6. Relevant commentary

We are open to proposals relating to any Sarbanes Oxley Compliance issue or concept. Please feel free to share your thoughts with us in developing an article. Aim to deliver a balanced, informative picture of a particular part of the Act, which always makes a good story. The article must be vendor neutral and share with the reader some idea, plan, action or new understanding of the topic.

Sarbanes Oxley Compliance Journal content is selected and reviewed by diverse editorial review process teams. The goal is to always accurately inform the reader of the current state and condition of the Sarbanes Oxley Compliance environment.

To submit an article proposal, please follow these steps.

1. Send your initial proposal to: editor@s-ox.com, ONLY. If you send it anywhere else you may never hear from us.
2. A proposal is not the article. It is 100 to 500 words describing with precision exactly what you want to write about and why you are uniquely suited to write the article.
3. Experience counts we are only interested in honest first hand stories.
4. You do not need to be a professional writer we are happy to work with both professional writers and subject matter experts. We have an in house editorial staff that will help you polish your story, if need be.

All published articles prominently feature the author's photograph, biography and contact information. For more information please visit, <http://www.s-ox.com/corp/guidelines.cfm>.

<http://www.s-ox.com/corp/guidelines>